PARTICIPANT BIOGRAPHIES

Yogesh Kumar Maurya

Yogesh Kumar Maurya is presently posted as OSD (Telecom), Department of Information Technology & Communication (DoIT&C), Govt of Rajasthan on deputation. He has more than 20 years of experience in Telecom Sector which includes Switching and Transmission system installation and O&M. He has worked as DGM(Planning) in Rajasthan Telecom Circle, BSNL wherein the planning for transmission rings (OFC rings), OFC equipment planning, Planning and roll out of FTTH services in Rajasthan were carried out. Presently, he is looking after networking projects of Govt of Rajasthan, which include RajSWAN, SecLAN (Jaipur city MAN), Wi-fi in 300+ Govt buildings across Rajasthan. He has also planned and finalised RajNET project under which connectivity to all Gram Panchayats is being extended mainly over VSAT and lease lines.

Rishab Bailey

Rishab Bailey is a practicing advocate. He also consults for ThoughtWorks, Society for Knowledge Commons and Newsclick. His primary work is in the areas of IP, tech and communication law. He has previously worked with Amarchand & Mangaldas from 2007 to 2010 followed by a short stint at the Software Freedom Law Center.

Abhay Karandikar

Abhay Karandikar is a currently a Professor in the Department of Electrical Engineering, IIT Bombay. He served as the Head of the Department from January 2012 to January 2015. He is currently spearheading IIT Bombay's efforts in setting Research and Innovations Park at IIT Bombay. He is also the Head of Tata Teleservices IIT Bombay Center for Excellence in Telecom and recently launched National Center of Excellence in Technology for Internal Security. Dr Karandikar has several international/national patents issued and pending, contributions to IEEE/3GPP standards, contributed chapters in books and large number of papers in international journals and conferences to his credit. Dr. Karandikar has received many awards including two time award for excellence in teaching at IIT Bombay, NASI-Reliance Industries Platinum Jubilee award 2012, Dr Vikram Sarabhai Research award 2010 among others.

Amitabh Singhal

Amitabh Singhal served as Senior Vice President of GTL Ltd. He is on the Board of The Public Interest Registry managers of .ORG, the internet home of all non profits and recently launched.NGO domain extension. He is the Founder and former President of ISP Association, which spearheaded the move towards privatisation and liberalisation of Internet in India, and was involved in helping develop all policy & regulatory pieces for the Internet industry up to 2006 and some afterwords. He is also the Founder Board Member and Former CEO of NIXI. in whose tenure, .IN ccTLD was re-launched. He also serves as the Director of Telxess Consulting Services Pvt. Ltd. and is on the Governing Council of Digital Empowerment Foundation.

Amrita Choudhury

Amrita Choudhury has over 15 years of hard core operational experience in the field of IT and Internet services. Her involvement at the grass root level for more than a decade with Internet penetration across the country, has given her a comprehensive understanding of the dynamics of the Public Internet Access providers (Cybercafes and CSC's), the current challenges and the opportunities this sector presents. She is an ardent advocate that the each citizen in India can be only become empowered with the help of Internet awareness. Besides being a student of Public Policy and Regulations pertaining to Telecom, IT & ITES, Internet Governance, e-Commerce, eSecurity and Internet & Broadband, Amrita has certificates in Internet Governance and Advanced Phased Certification on Security. She has a 6 sigma black belt certification and holds a Post Graduate degree in Management.

Aruna Sundararajan

Aruna Sundararajan is a senior member of the Indian Administrative Service, with over 32 years of experience in the National and Federal Governments. Currently, she is the Additional Secretary, Telecom and Administrator of the Universal Service Obligation Fund, Govt of India & CMD, BBNL heading the NOFN under the 'Digital India' Program. Previously, she was involved in establishing the National Internet Centre Project covering 100,000 villages across the country under India's National e-Governance Programme (NeGP). She also commissioned India's first wireless connectivity project at Malappuram district in Kerala. She has also spearheaded the establishment of state wide IT infrastructure including Wide Area Networks and Data Centres across 28 states in India.

Dipak Singh

Dipak Singh is the Director of the Department of Electronics and Information Technology (DeitY), Govt of India. In DeitY, he is heading the E-Infra, E-Learning and PEG divisions. He has done Masters in Applied Physics from Calcutta University. He has worked on the Universal Electronic Accessibility Policy, implementation of Information Technology Investment Region(ITIR) policy, draft Policy on Internet of Things. He is responsible for Centre of Excellence for IoT which is being set up at Bengaluru in PPP mode. He is also responsible for National Centre of Excellence for Flexible Electronics (NCFlexE) being set up at IIT Kanpur and National Centre of Excellence in Technologies for Internal Security (NCETIS) being set up at IIT Bombay. He has earlier been associated with ERNET for more than 20 years and has an experience in Internet technologies.

Mahesh Uppal

Mahesh Uppal is the Owner and Director of ComFirst (India) Pvt Limited, a consulting company specialising in regulatory affairs Telecommunications Consultant. His consulting work includes giving strategic advice to players in the communications sector including government, national & international agencies, telecom service providers, unions & consumer bodies. He has also been deeply involved in the telecom deregulation in India and with the work done to set up India's first independent market regulator Telecom Regulatory Authority of India.

N. Ramakrishnan

N.Ramakrishnan is a communication for social change (C4SC) professional, trainer and author with more than 2 decades in the C4SC and community radio (CR) sectors. In addition to his capacity building work with communities on CR, developmental filmmaking and low cost radio and video technology, Ramakrishnan is the Founder/Director of Ideosync Media Combine, a C4SC organization based in the NCR of Delhi, India. Ideosync works to leverage the power of communication and media to create new information and knowledge flows, leading to better social, political and economic outcomes for the marginalized. Community participation, knowledge equity and freedom of speech remain guiding principles for its work on community radio; greater citizen access to media; media rights' and new media technologies.

Naresh Ajwani

Naresh Ajwani works as an Independent Consultant. He has previously worked as Managing Director- Vihaan Networks Ltd. His journey started with serving the hinterland of India as President – Sify, India's first private ISP, with setting up of assistance internet kiosk model – iWays in hundreds of small cities across India. Besides advocating for policies for promoting right environment for ISPs as Secretary-ISPAI, in his capacity as NIXI Director, amongst the other contributions, he had conducted a study on promotion of ccTLD (.in). Along with other stake holders, he was instrumental behind the success of IGF 2008, Hyderabad, India. With his multiple hats, serving FICCI as Chairman-Subcommittee Broadband & MAG Member, he co-organized the first India Internet Governance Conference, prelude to India IGF & for sharing position at IGF 2012, Baku. He has been a key member of Industry Associations like TAIPA (Tower & Infrastructure Providers Association), served in the Advisory body of BBNL (Bharat Broadband Limited). He has been a Co-founder member of IIIA (International Internet Industry Alliance) and has also served community at Asia Pacific level as NRO-NC APNIC and globally, as Vice Chairman, Address Council for ICANN.

Nehaa Chaudhari

Nehaa Chaudhari is a lawyer; a graduate of the National Academy of Legal Studies and Research ("NALSAR") University of Law at Hyderabad, India. She has an abiding interest in intellectual property law, particularly in limitations and exceptions to copyright and related rights. Currently, at the Centre for Internet and Society ("CIS"), New Delhi, she is a Programme Officer, engaging primarily in research on intellectual property law and policy and openness at the domestic and international levels.

Nikhil Pahwa

Nikhil Pahwa is the Founder, Editor and Publisher of MediaNama, the leading publication for news and analysis on the evolving digital ecosystem in India. Nikhil has been involved with online communities since 1999, and since 2006, has provided insight on business developments related to online and mobile content, commerce, distribution and access businesses, as well as the impact that laws, regulation and policy-making have had on the freedom of expression, privacy and business in India. Prior to founding MediaNama in 2008, Nikhil was the Editor of ContentSutra, a part of the ContentNext network of digital media focused publications, which was bought by the Guardian Media Group, and is now owned by the GigaOm Network. In December 2012, Nikhil was named one of 37 "Indians of Tomorrow" under 35 by the India Today magazine.

Paola Di Maio

Dr. Paola Di Maio is a Multilingual Systemist, Knowledge Engineer, Lecturer, Researcher Specializing in Socio Technical and Information Systems, ICT, engineering and operations. She develops and delivers courses and learning experiences for Graduates and Postgraduates, as well as knowledge products and services with particular emphasis on online information and its role in organizational, social and community transformation and innovation. She publishes advisories and give talks, manages academic and industrial delivery projects worldwide, sometimes remotely. She serve as a consultant for non profit sector in sustainable and participatory project development and management worldwide, professionally co- leading networked ad hoc operations in the humanitarian and emergency management, including disaster planning and mitigation and logistics.

Rahul Tongia

Dr. Rahul Tongia is a Fellow with Brookings India. An expert in technology, policy and design of infrastructure, his research covers energy, electricity, information technology and telecommunications, and sustainable development. Current work includes Smart Grids and sustainable energy, and he has been active in issues of ICT for Development as well as the Digital Divide. He was previously Vice-Chairman of the UN IT Task Force Working Group on Low Cost-Connectivity Access/Enabling Environment. He is also an adjunct professor at Carnegie Mellon University, and technical advisor for the Government of India's Smart Grid Task Force.

Rajen Varada

Rajen Varada is the CEO for the "Open Knowledge Community, an independent entity evolved from the UNESCO Solution exchange ICTD and education communities. It is co-founded by UNESCO, DEITY (GOI) and civil society organisations. He has over 15 years of experience in the social development sector and knowledge management. He is associated with issues on e-governance and development issues through the use of ICT to which he brings his expertise of technology background and grass-roots experience of rural and urban marginalized communities. His prior engagements were as the resource person and moderator for the UN Solution. Exchange ICTD community. Mr. Varada has been the project manager in UNICEF Hyderabad. His work in UNICEF has won the national Manthan award in 2005 and international UN World summit award in e-health for the development of an ICT portal for health called "Sisu Samrakshak". Rajen Varada is the founding director of Technology for the People (TFTP), a Non governmental organisation in South India that works towards providing livelihood options for deprived communities by upgrading traditional skills to match modern market requirements. He supports various organisations as advisor and as Board of Directors; Open Knowledge Community, Founder Trustee; Technology For The People, Board of Trustees; Indian Heritage Cities Network Foundation, Board of Advisers; North East Development Foundation, Board of Directors; Digital Empowerment Foundation.

Smarika Kumar

Smarika Kumar is a consultant with the Alternative Law Forum. She graduated with a bachelor's degree in law and arts from NLIU, Bhopal. Her area of interest lies in the intersection of law, science & technology with development. She works on legal issues concerning media content, ownership and infrastructure, media diversity, internet governance, and the allocation of natural resources.

Srinivasan Ravindran

Srinivasan Ravindran is the Co-Founder of OneView Systems, and CellApp Technologies. He Started his career as Lecturer at NSS Engg. College, Palakkad in 1990. He carries an extensive experience in handling training, products, services and research in various ICT related activities. "Open Hardware" and "Internet of Things" are Srini's current areas of interest, both in business and research. Srini took the role of Director & CEO for OneView Systems till 2010 and Director in charge of Business and Strategy Development for CellApp

Technologies till 2012. On joining ICFOSS, Srini led and successfully completed a DIT, Govt. of India, funded research project on Android and continues as Senior Consultant on various FOSS projects and evangelism. On social and professional front, works extensively with IEEE and CSI. His tenure as Chair, saw IEEE Kerala Section selected as global outstanding section and as Chair, CSI Trivandrum chapter, the best chapter in India. Srini is active member of many social and professional groups including social media ones, in promoting technology for social needs

Prabir Purkayastha

Prabir Purkayastha is an engineer and a science activist in the power, telecom and software sectors. He is one of the founding members of Delhi Science Forum and its Secretary. He has written and published extensively a variety of science and technology policy issues in several leading journals and newspapers including 'Economic and Political Weekly', 'Times of India' and a number of Delhi Science Forum publications.

Roop Sharma

Roop Sharma joined the Cable TV Industry in 1989, as the first woman cable operator of India. She was elected as the General Secretary of Delhi Cable Operators Welfare Association. In 1993, she was elected the founder President of Cable Operators Federation of India. She is the first Indian entrepreneur nominated as a member of Cable and Satellite Broadcasters Association of Asia (CASBAA). She also represented the industry before the Joint Parliamentary Committee for drafting the Convergence Bill. At Present she is a member of National Task Force for curbing Piracy and Introduction of Conditional Access in the Cable Television Networks. She has also been nominated as a member of the Steering Committee on Communications and Information for the Eleventh Five-Year-Plan (2007-2012) in the Prime Ministers Office (PMO) and is working with the Sub Group on Expansion and Digitization of Cable TV Networks. She is a member of the Government Committee for reviewing the content code for television channels. As a member representing the last milew cable operators, she helps The Telecom Regulatory Authority of India (TRAI) in drafting various regulations that help the industry grow.

Shyam Ponappa

Shyam Ponappa is a Distinguished Fellow at the Centre for Internet and Society, Bangalore (cis-india.org), focusing on broadband, telecommunications, and spectrum policy. After beginning his career in banking, he was a management consultant and investment banker (as a Senior Manager, Price Waterhouse, San Francisco, and M&A Head for Citibank in India, then managed a partnership in New Delhi doing alliances, strategy, and financial placements), and thereafter a consultant in India and abroad. He has also advised the government on occasion since 1990, primarily in telecommunications. A columnist for the Business Standard, he writes on infrastructure and managing economic reforms.

Ram Bhat

Ramnath Bhat is co-founder of Maraa, a media and arts collective in Bangalore. Previously having worked with VOICES and UNESCO, he has more than ten years of experience in the media and communications for development sector- both at the grassroots and at the policy and advocacy level. His interests include: design of licensing and spectrum allocation for media; policy issues for FM/AM, broadband and telecom sectors. He has completed his graduation in Media and Communication for Development from the London School of Economics. He is currently on the board of the World Association of Community Radio Broadcasters (AMARC).

Nikhil Dey

Nikhil Dey is an Indian social activist working for the Mazdoor Kisan Shakti Sangathan (MKSS) He has also woked for the NGO, Suchna Evum Rozgar Adhikar Abhiyan. He has been actively working for the Right to Food and other Human Rights organisations. Nikhil Dey initially worked at Khedath Mazdoor Sangathan in Madhya Pradesh.

Nayantara Ranganathan

Nayantara manages the Freedom of Expression programme at the Internet Democracy Project where she is responsible for the planning, co-ordination, research and advocacy of projects related to freedom of expression issues in India, as they relate to gender and the Internet, net neutrality and surveillance.

John Burgoyary

John Burgoyary is a development professional with over 20 years of experience in the management and implementation of development projects. He has a wide range of experience in the areas of Electoral Management, Democratic Governance, Gender, Livelihoods, Information and Communication Technology for Development (ICTD), Human Rights and Knowledge Management. During the last 20 years, he has had the opportunity to work with large national and international organizations including the United Nations (UNDP, UN Women), British Council and British High Commission, giving him the experience of managing and implementing wide variety of development projects.

Siddharth Manohar

Siddharth Manohar is currently a Research Fellow with Centre for Communication Governance. His areas of interest include free speech, and regulation of online communication and information markets. He has most recently worked with the Law Commission on behalf of CCG on the National consultation on Media laws.

V.Sridhar

Dr. V. Sridhar is Professor at the Centre for IT and Public Policy at the International Institute of Information Technology Bangalore, India. He is the author of two books published by the Oxford University Press: The Telecom Revolution in India: Technology, Regulation and Policy (2012), and The Dynamics of Spectrum Management: Legacy, Technology, and Economics (2014). Dr. Sridhar has taught at many Institutions in the USA, Finland, New Zealand and India. Prior to joining IIIT-B Dr. Sridhar was a Research Fellow at Sasken Communication Technologies. He has been a member of Government of India committees on Telecom and IT. He has written more than 200 articles in prominent business newspapers and magazines relating to telecom regulation and policy in India. Dr. Sridhar has a Ph.D. from the University of Iowa, U.S.A. His work can be accessed at: http://www.vsridhar.info.

Jaijit Bhattacharya

Dr. Jaijit Bhattacharya is a noted Governance Transformation expert and Partner at the International Consulting firm, KPMG. He is also Adjunct Professor at IIT Delhi. He is President of Centre for Digital Economy Policy Research. He is also member of Governing

Senate of IIIT Raipur, Member of Expert Committee for Ease of Doing Business legislation of Government of India, co-chair of Expert Committee on Skill Development for Deity, Government of India and Convener for Economic Standards for Smart Cities, BIS, Government of India. He has been responsible for the creation of the next generation of solutions for governments, based on open standards. Dr. Bhattacharya advises governments on e-governance strategies. He is deeply involved in Technology Policy making for the Indian Army and has coined the term "Technological Sovereignty", based on which he runs a National Conclave on Technological Sovereignty for the Indian Army and Centre for Land Warfare Studies. Dr. Bhattacharya has developed business models and strategies for leading companies in the IT, media and computer hardware industries. He has numerous research papers to his credit in leading journals and conferences. He has authored five books on e-Governance, including being the co-author of the first book on e-Governance in India, 'Government On-line – Opportunities and Challenges', published by McGraw Hill and released by the then Honourable President of India, Shri Abdul Kalam.

Anirban Sarma

Mr Anirban Sarma is a National Programme Officer (Communication and Information) at UNESCO New Delhi. He manages UNESCO's projects on media development and ICTs for development in Bangladesh, Bhutan, India, Maldives and Sri Lanka. He was earlier a Supervisor (Planning) at Weber Shandwick, the global PR and corporate communications consultancy. He began his career in book publishing and has held editorial positions at Random House and Anthem Press. He read for a Master's in Media and Communications at the London School of Economics, graduating with a Distinction in 2008.

Subhalakshmi Nandi

Subhalakshmi Nandi is a development professional, working for over a decade on issues of gender equality, and women's rights and empowerment, and on gender and development (GAD), with a focus on CEDAW, Beijing Platform for Action and Convention on Economic, Social Cultural Rights (ESCR). She currently lead the programme on women's economic rights and security at the UN Women Office for India, Bhutan, Maldives and Sri Lanka (based in New Delhi). She has researched and published papers nationally and internationally on the issue of Self Help Groups (SHGs), microcredit and women's empowerment. She has also been an active member of various campaigns and alliances in India such as the women's movements, Right to Food campaign, and the Citizens' Collective against Sexual Assault. An area of work she is currently interested in building upon is in addressing the linkages between increasing violence against women and macroeconomic paradigms.

Benjamin Grubb

Active in the humanitarian aid & development sector, Ben has managed and led technical projects and R&D initiatives catering specifically to local and community media. A proven innovator in the field of Communication for Development (C4D), He is committed to theoretically-informed communication praxis that facilitates social change, demystifies technology & is sensitive to the needs of community and context.

Parminder Jeet Singh

Parminder is an Executive Director of IT for Change, an India based NGO in Special Consultative Status with the ECOSOC. IT for Change is recognized globally for its expertise on information society issues, especially from a Southern and equity and social justice oriented standpoint. Parminder has been an advisor to the UN Global Alliance on ICTs for Development, He has been a Special Advisor to Chair of the UN Internet Governance Forum. Later, he has been a civil society member of the UN Commission on Science and Technology for Development's Working Group on Improvements to the IGF, and also the Working Group on Enhanced Cooperation. He has been the first elected coordinator of Civil Society Internet Governance Forum, and a key organiser of the Just Net Coalition, which is a global coalition of more than 50 organizations and many more individuals advocating a just, egalitarian and democratic Internet. At India level, he has been involved with many committees and working groups of the government on ICTs for Development and Internet governance issues. He was invited to participate at the ministerial level panel at the WSIS, Tunis. He has also participated in ministerial level and other panels at Commission on Science and Technology for Development meetings. He has written many papers and articles on ICTs for development and Internet governance issues.

Anita Gurumurthy

Anita Gurumurthy is a founding member and executive director of IT for Change. She also serves on the Board of ISIS International- Manila, the International Advisory Group of BRIDGE at IDS Sussex, as advisor to SciDev.net, serves on the National Resource Group of the Mahila Samakhya women's empowerment programme of the Ministry of HRD-Government of India, and is on the Advisory Group of Ending VAW: Research on Legal Remedies and Corporate Policies-a global programme of APC, supported by the Dutch Government's FLOW Fund. Anita has been leading and contributing to many policy related processes actively; she represented civil society at the UN Internet Governance Forum's closing session, in 2008, and at the WSIS plus 10 review at UNESCO Paris, in February 2013. She was part of the high level committee of UNESCAP in its Beijing plus 15 process. She has been actively supporting the work of the UN Rapporteur on Cultural Rights and contributed to the UN Working Group On Discrimination Against Women. Anita also led the political participation track of the International Working Forum on Women, ICTs and Development, organised by UNWomen and U.S Secretary of State's Office of Global Women's Issues in 2013.

Pragati Mitta

Pragati Mitta is a research intern at IT For Change, working on Internet Governance. She is currently in her final year of LLB at Campus Law Centre, Faculty of Law, Delhi University. She graduated in BA (Hons) History from St. Stephen's College, Delhi University. She is deeply passionate about human rights and has previously worked on raising awareness about caste discrimination and atrocities. Pragati wants to pursue a career in policy and advocacy in Cyber Law.

Hemant Mallapur

Hemant Mallapur is a Co-founder & VP of Engineering at Saankhya Labs, an innovative technology startup that develops last-mile wireless broadband equipment and is India's first semiconductor company. Hemant manages development of Base Station & Modem products. He is an Observer on the Board of Saankhya, a privately-held company funded by Intel Capital.

Hemant holds a B. Tech. from JNTU Hyderabad and has 23 years of industry experience. He was an early member of Sage Inc. which went IPO on NASDAQ. He was featured in the annual Innovator List of 2000 by EDN ASIA magazine and holds 4 US patents.

Rajeev Saraf

Dr. Rajeev Saraf is the CEO of Lepton Software Export and Research Pvt. Ltd., which is a leading global provider of innovative IT solutions and services. He is a graduate from Indian Institute of Technology, Kharagpur, India with Masters and PhD from Vanderbilt University, United States. Rajeev co-founded Lepton in 1994 and brings over two decades of unparalleled industry experience to the organization. In 1999, Rajeev co-founded Manchitra Services, a GIS products company, and guided the company through the GIS evolution phase in India.

Bidyut Mohanty

Bidyut Mohanty, Ph.D (Delhi), is serving as the Head, Women's Studies Unit, Institute of Social Sciences(ISS), New Delhi. For last five years she had been teaching as a Visiting Professor in the Global and International Studies, University of California, Santa Barbara (UCSB) in the Spring Quarter. She is a visiting fellow in Orfalea Center, in the Department of Global and International Studies, UCSB. She was the coordinator of ISS and UNDP project on Capacity Building of Elected Women Leaders in Local Government in India which was conducted in seven states and also of the project sponsored by the National Commission on Protection of Child Rights. She has been coordinating several projects on HIV and AIDS and role of Panchayats, Trafficking and local government's new role as well as the Total Sanitation Scenario- a reality Check, sponsored by UNIFEM (UNWOMEN), UN AIDS and FINISH through the ISS, respectively. She has also served as a series coordinator as well as series editor of the proceedings of National Women's Political Empowerment Day Celebrations from 1995 to 2012. Dr. Mohanty is also a specialist on Famine, Agrarian History and Decentralization Studies with a focus on Gender, Culture and Development in a comparative perspective between India and China. She has authored many researched articles in foreign and Indian journals and books.

Rajesh Chharia

Mr. Rajesh Chharia is the President of the Internet Service Providers Association of India (ISPAI). In 1999 Mr. Rajesh started M/s CJ Online Pvt. Ltd., the first Operational Private ISP on 100% digital platform in Ghaziabad (NCR Town of Delhi) and its adjoining areas. Mr. Rajesh is also the Member in Regional Advisory Committee of Central Excise & Service Tax under Ministry of Finance, Government of India. Mr. Rajesh Chharia was elected the President of the ISPAI in September 2006 and for the consecutive term also. Prior to this he has also served as the Vice President for the same organization in 2002. He has also played a major role in creating National Internet Exchange of India; presently he is one of the Director of NIXI.

Sowmya Rao

Sowmya Rao is a lawyer and public policy consultant managing her firm- Mudita Advisory. The firm advises on emerging technology and financial regulation, and consults on development policy through the lens of smart policy-design and incentives. She graduated from NALSAR University of Law (2009) and has worked with Clifford Chance LLP (London, Singapore), Luthra & Luthra (New Delhi), and The National Institute of Public Finance and Policy (Fin Ministry) previously. She is qualified to practice law in the UK and India. She has also conceptualised, and is setting up, India's first professional policy hackathonwith stakeholder buy-in– Hack Dot Gov.

Rahul Nayar

Rahul Nayar is Senior Consultant in the Office of the CMD, Bharat Broadband Network Limited, where he works on grassroots digital service delivery models. He previously worked at the Office of the Adviser to the Prime Minister, Government of India; prior to this, he worked on emerging technology commercialization and venture development. Rahul was educated at the universities of Oxford, Cambridge, and Madras.

Vinay Kesari

Currently works in the National Internet Exchange of India and with the law firm Luthra and Luthra. Full biography is awaited.

Kaushal Kishore

Kaushal Kishore was till recently with the office of the administrator, Universal Service Obligation Fun. Full biography is awaited

Ritu Srivastava

Ritu Srivastava has over 10 years of experience in ICT development, managing programmes and projects at different stake-levels of competency. She has been actively entailed with Information, Communication and Technology (ICT) from the last 8 years. Her area of interest, activity and research is in Information Communication and Technology (ICT) at the grassroots level, internet governance, environmental issues, community development, open spectrum policy issues, etc.